Arturo Sutter is the Founder and CEO of Suttertek LLC, where he develops and leads advisory, consulting, and software-development services across Information Technology, Audit, Compliance, and Project Management.

A results-driven IT executive with more than 30 years of international experience, Arturo helps organizations turn complex technology challenges into clear, actionable strategies. He is recognized for aligning innovation, governance, and business value; bridging executive vision with technical execution.

Throughout his career, Arturo has combined enterprise-level leadership with hands-on technical expertise. He has directed global technology operations, compliance programs, and transformation initiatives for several Fortune 500 companies, including Texaco, Diageo (Pillsbury / Burger King / Johnnie Walker / Guinness), EY, The Walt Disney Company, and Adobe, across the U.S., Latin America, Europe, and Asia. His work has included guiding multiple companies through IPO readiness and IT SOX compliance, as well as leading Customer Success and Software License Management functions.

An early-career programmer turned strategist, Arturo remains deeply connected to technology. He continues to develop, prototype, and adopt emerging platforms from cloud and cybersecurity frameworks to AI and automation. He recently earned AI Implications for the Economy and Society certificate from Sanford University, adding to a broad portfolio of certifications in FinTech, Cybersecurity, Prompt Engineering, and AI strategy.

Arturo holds a B.S. and M.S. in Information Systems from Del Salvador University (Argentina) and an MBA from the University of Deusto (Spain). He also completed studies in Information Systems Management at the University of California – Berkeley and participated in an International Exchange Program at Tennessee Technological University.

Fluent in English, Portuguese, and Spanish, Arturo brings cultural and market intelligence that enhances collaboration across global teams and clients.
